Dear Student,

Welcome to the Monsoon semester and the first day of the Studio.

Over the summer, faculty members have discussed ways to improve the standard of teaching and learning at CEPT. It was decided that by making a few important changes to the way studio projects are conducted and graded we could achieve better quality.

This letter outlines the new changes that will be followed in all studios starting this semester and will be applicable to all students registered for the studio course.

1. All studios will have a component of internal grading and a component of portfolio grading.
2. Internal grading comprises of evaluations given by the Studio Instructor in the following stages:
 - a) Midterm grades for all studios will be announced on individual student dashboards on the Friday of the 9th week of the semester. Midterm grades will have minimum of 20% and maximum of 40% weightage, as decided by the Faculty Dean.
 - b) Juries of all studios will be conducted during 15th or 16th week of the Semester as decided by the Faculty Dean. While earlier, Juries were used to evaluate student's cumulative work of the semester, henceforth, Juries will focus on providing constructive feedback that will help improve the design and the final output of the student. External jury members (other than studio instructors) will not give grades but only provide written feedback to each student. Studio instructors will grade the work done till the Jury stage as part of the total internal grading. Cumulative internal grading of minimum 60% and maximum 80% will be announced on individual student dashboards on the Friday of the 17th week of the Semester.
3. Portfolio grading is a new category of evaluation. Each student will collate their entire semester's work and submit it in the form of a portfolio (format to be decided by Studio Instructor). Grading of the student portfolios will form the final (and external) component of the Studio grading. This will be done during the first three days of the 18th week by an exam panel that is external to the studio process (i.e. does not include your studio instructors) which will be decided by the Dean and the Academic Offices. The exam panel will grade the portfolio that is prepared by the student on the basis of the outline given by the Studio Instructor. Weightage of this portfolio / external grading will be between 20% and 40% of the total grade as decided by the Faculty Dean. Students will not remain present at the time of portfolio grading. Final studio grades will be announced on the individual student dashboard on the Friday of the 18th week of the semester.
4. Portfolio grading will be done on the basis of the quality of students' work and the ability of the portfolio to demonstrate the learning outcomes as defined in the studio course. It will be students' responsibility to submit the Portfolio at the stipulated time. Please note that failure to produce quality of work that effectively demonstrates the learning outcomes, or failure to submit works on time, will result in a Fail grade.
5. All other rules regarding the Grading Policy as outlined in the student handbook are applicable.

Best Wishes,

Dr. Srivathsan A, Academic Director, CEPT University
