

Spring Semester, 2021, Faculty of Planning, CEPT University

Course:

UR2600: History of Urbanism

Course Tutor/s:

Deepa Ramaswamy

Link to CEPT Portfolio :

(studio work from past semesters)

Long Description :

This course examines the long history of urbanism. The course should rather be called the histories of urbanism as we will not be discussing anything that is monolithic or singular. In this vein, the course includes the debates, theories, and practices that shaped urbanism from the late eighteenth to the twentieth century and beyond. It will be crucial for the class to move away from nation-state constructions and euro-centric historiographic categories. This history goes back to the advent of industrialization, social revolutions, the rise of cities, the emergence of the bourgeois class, colonization, post colonialism, postwar expansion, network cities, and newfound planetary consciousness. Throughout the course we will ask the question: what is the city and how does a city operate around three kinds of mobilities: labor, commodities, and capital. We will cover drawings, exhibitions, schools of thought, historical and theoretical writings, and manifestos, which cover a wide range of practices, polemics and institutions. Each week is organized around a theme, idea, determinant, or narrative that helps us unravel the many Histories of Urbanism. The aim of the course is to provide a solid historical framework of the debates and practices that shaped urbanism as we know it in the anthropocene.

Course Expense :

(INR -extra expenditure a student would incur during the semester)

INR 0/- (Rupees)

Course Prerequisite:

Learning Outcomes :

After completing the Courses,the student will be able to :

- The aim of the course is to provide a solid historical framework of the debates and practices that shaped urbanism as we know it in the anthropocene.

Course Time
Slot:

From Time	To Time	Day	Room Id
16.30	18.30	Wednesday

Course Structure :

We will cover drawings, exhibitions, schools of thought, historical and theoretical writings, and manifestos, which cover a wide range of practices, polemics and institutions. Each week is organized around a theme, idea, determinant, or narrative that helps us unravel the many Histories of Urbanism. We will work through readings, discussions and writing as we proceed through the semester.

Course Assessment :

Exercise : Commentary 1, 2 and 3	Percentage : 50	Criteria : Writing, Reading, Arguments.
Exercise : Class Discussions and Written Response	Percentage : 25	Criteria : Cogent discussion and participation
Exercise : Final Presentation	Percentage : 25	Criteria : Clarity of thought and presentation

References :

not yet

Tutor Profile:

Deepa is an architect and historian with a Ph.D. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Department of Architecture. Deepa also has degrees from the Architectural Association in London, Virginia Tech and Mumbai University. Before her doctoral studies, she was a practicing architect in Chicago and Mumbai. Deepa's research focuses on land, legality, and territoriality. Deepa's research has been supported by the Rockefeller Archive Center, Getty Research Institute and the Canadian Center of Architecture. She received the Presidential, Schlossman, and Hyzen fellowships at MIT.

Note : This course outline is subject to change.