■ Course Average(COR AVG): This is the average of the total responses for this course. For example, for Studio IV, out of total 32 students 28 have responded, the Average represents the mean of all 28 responses.

■ Individual Average(IND AVG): This is the average score of the total responses for this instructor. For example, for Studio IV, out of total 32 students 28 have responded, the Average represents the mean of all 28 responses.

■ Faculty Average(FAC AVG): This is the average of all responses for similar course type within the Faculty. For example, Faculty average of Studio IV offered by FA, represents the mean of all responses for Studio courses offered in FA during the given semester.

Scale: 1-3: Unsatisfactory, 4-6: Average, 7-8: Good, 9: Very Good, 10: Excellent

| 30     | The course definitely helped us push ourselves. It helped me learn new skills especially the workshop exercise was really interesting. It not only helped us know about the tools and materials like wood and bamboo but also helped us know the correct postures while using those tools. Other exercises were a lot challenging. Prof. Sankalpa really helped us think beyond our capacity. Overall the course was very interesting.       |

| 33     | This studio is completely practical based, which is emphasized on hands-on training and practical knowledge rather than rote learning builds a foundation to learn through mistakes, and take lifelong lessons ready to be applied in a professional setting. Since all exercises are practical based which is very important to know and each exercise conveys different behaviors of the materials in a particular technique or situation. |

| 15     | The studio could be planned out a little better considering the online and offline modes. Due to the constant change from non-campus to on-campus days, it gets difficult to cope with the model making exercises. Due to we desired outcome was not achieved. Also, such studios are meant to have exploration on an individual level. A semester full of a group projects with someone you didn't choose to work with gets extremely difficult. |

Also, most importantly the financial requirements were quite high in terms of model which was really hectic and disturbing many times difficult to manage with all the increasing expenses of college fees and prints.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

| 30 | The way the course was managed (The hybrid mode could have been carried out in a better way). There were some lectures (For e.g. Space Syntax) what were carried out on our campus access days which could have been avoided since we only had access to campus for 3 days a week. This resulted in us getting less time to complete the exercises that required campus excess (Eg. Workshop exercise). Also there was very less consideration from the faculty and TA's side regarding the Hybrid mode when it came to submissions.                                                 |

| 33 | Group exercise has to be changed. According to me, this process does not or never works in this MAAD studio because too many clashes, miscommunications, misunderstandings arise at every point those are very disturbing and disappointing factors to continue with throughout the semester. Because of the group work, 'some people work hard and some people hardly work'. So this group exercise provides benefit to them (hardly working people) because at the end of the day they got benefited with the help of others intellectual properties and get marks or pass easily. |

| 1      | i thoroughly enjoyed the process of the whole semester assignments ...right from peer grading , workshop , model making and understanding design processes through all these                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 2      | Although the studio exercises were very explorative and open ended, the studio felt overpowering in the way the output turned out, there seemed an unintentional yet a noticeable prejudice on the way in which the studio proceeded. Albeit being happy with the amount of work the studio could put out in the time constraints, the schedule vs. the amount of work seemed to turn a blind eye towards the time and logistical difficulties (due to limited campus access) we were facing post covid. The constant comparison of our work with that of the previous batches, which was meant to push and motivate us, ended up demoralizing me in many instances. The schedule of submissions were not coordinated with other work, including of their own, which added to the pressure. Enthusiasm and curiosity diminished in the wake of unreasonable pressure. Ample space would have helped to achieve the aspired quality of work, intermittent monitoring should have been avoided. I felt discontent with a lot of my work, while believing that much more could be done even in my current skillset and capacity. Overall, it was a more of a regimental than a creative experience. |
| 3      | Few workshops were conducted as part of the studio in collaboration with the other department. These could be scheduled and structured properly.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

| 5      | The course could have a little more structure and sequence and tailor made depending on the batch.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

| 9      | College funds should be provided for such exhibiting and curricular model works, as it really affects one's finance chart and expenses, (Atleast after paying this much fee we can expect a 50% refund of our amount spend on modrl work)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 10     | Overall the course is well designed to test the rigor and ability of the students but can be improved in terms of chronology of workshops.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 11     | More time should have been spent on structural design part, the workshop that happened with Rajan bhai and structural engineers should have happened earlier in semester when we had some flexibility to change our design. The idea of pairing up students in group to work on design was a bad idea. We individually could have produced more work of better quality. A lot of time was spent on taking design decisions democratically which led to unsatisfactory design for both the partners. It would have been really great to have some team-building exercise before starting the design process so that there is less friction between partner during semester.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 12     | The course would have been structured in a better way in terms of time allocation for students to grab more things.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

| 14     | I felt the course got a little bit messed up due to the number of Professors and TAs assigned for this course. 2 Prof. and 3 TAs only led to confusion when it came to taking inputs. There were times when TAs gave input which was not discussed with Prof. Sankalpa beforehand and it led to us going in the wrong direction. I felt there was a lot of communication gap between the TAs, Prof. Shilpa and Prof. Sankalpa. This resulted in the mismanagement of the course.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

| 16     | Throughout this semester, I came to know about so many things but in a very unorganized way. Like, I don't know why I am learning this thing and where or how we can apply those. I mean, during the session we came to know about so many things in every aspect but without any executions. Another thing is at the end of this semester we all made 50 scaled building prototype models. Is there any reason to make that 50 scaled gigantic model which is not very easy to handle?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 17     | Very interesting and a keen focus on critical thinking right from conceptual stage learning through making.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

Prof. Sankalpa did not leave a single chance to compare us with 2019 batch students and their work without taking into account that their batch had access to campus 6 days a week and also got to spend nights for finishing the projects. I did not feel that was necessary since it was nothing but |

| 3      | He is an excellent professor. The methodology he opts to teach the process of design development is fantastic.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 4      | He is quite Knowledgable about the subject. The coordination among the team of TA's and co-tutor was lacking because of which there were many misunderstandings. If he could overlook onto them, the course could have been structured better and we could also follow up based on that. Overall he had good clarity in what he explains regarding the subject and was very helpful. He also made sure that we were on same track with the exercises. |

| 6      | Prof. Sankalpa is a disciplinarian who commits to his studio with at most sincerity and zeal. Interactions and discussions with him have always been to point and crisp. It would have been great and even more enjoyable if he could have loosen up a bit more with our class.                                                                                                                                                                       |

| 3      | As online learning is a drastic shift in the way education is accessed, it is a struggle for both the sides to adapt to it. The hybrid format, although intended to give the best of both worlds, was more of an awkward arrangement. While the scheduling and access was redesigned, the pedagogy could not adapt equally.                                                                                                       |

| 14     | I was not able to have a one-on-one discussion with the tutor regularly except on-campus days. There were difficulties dealing with and working on physical tasks in an online mode. The program should have been directed in a way that it also becomes practical from the student side to work by compromising 3 on-campus days.                                                                                                |

| 24     | As the course was partially offline it was very difficult to manage, the work being done offline had to be paused every 3 days and then go back to work on some other exercise. This way not even one exercise was ever fully done to the level of satisfaction as the flow was lost. This foundation studio should either be fully online or fully offline.                                                                      |
| 25     | Considering the foundation studio, there was a lot of practical work involved which needed us to access the campus almost everyday. Not being able to access the campus regularly made it difficult to get through the deliverables on time which affected the final outcome of the studio. There was minimum consideration from the faculty side regarding the hybrid mode when it came to submissions of physical models etc.,. |

| 33     | I think the MAAD course does not fit in online mode due to hands-on experiences and practical sessions in the foundation studio. When I was attending studio classes through online mode, I felt difficulties to express something or conveying the thought process which stuck in my mind.                                                                                                                                       |

| 1      | partial online learning is effective, but cannot compensate for the one to one interaction and campus experience.                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 2      | Although teaching partially shifts to online mode, much of the work still relies on offline resources. Assignments may be formulated in a way in which the proportion of offline resources required is in sync with what the institute is able to provide in the given limited access. |

| 12 | The structure of the semester could be either achieved fully online/ fully offline. The partial on-campus mode for foundation studio made things difficult for students to achieve things in a short duration of time. Thus making it less productive. |
