4	The structured nature of the course, where every exercise connected with the next and played a crucial role in the overall studio learning.
5	the exercises are quite varied and hence help in new explorations
6	The constant change in pacing and jumps between mediums, always creating a new perspective on a topic was wonderful.
7	Free to explore in design
8	The course was centred more on fostering an understanding of architecture rather than dealing with only the technicalities and nitty-gritties of it which is essential especially for second years.
9	the amounts of varying exercises always kept things interesting
10	I liked how we got to explore different mediums to communicate ideas.
11	Different methods to understand, model making, drawings, prints, impressions

2	First few exercises

5	no
6	A small shift in the overall timetable so that before the mid semester review a concept is developed and review on that can be done.
7	Nothing
8	The final design problem could have been introduced slightly earlier- about a week or so-so that the last week before jury wouldnt be so rushed and tensed.
9	more integration of the initial exercises and their decoding into the final design
10	Working on the final design for barely 6 weeks was a little anxiety inducing. Maybe a little more time with it would be helpful.

2	Overall a very holistic learning experience, with a great understanding of architectural language developed in the end. It was also quite fascinating to see how the earlier exercises contributed to the larger picture, in conscious and subconscious ways.

4	Clarity in the method of teaching and concepts was extremely helpful, and example based method of instruction and flexibility was also crucial in the final output.
5	great amount of knowledge and experience
6	His perspective inputs on our projects keeping in line with our own thoughts was wonderful.
7	Enthusiasm towards architecture and explanation of it
8	He was quite understanding and helpfully critical. He did not create a toxic environment, for which I am forever grateful.
9	the emphasis on critical and conceptual thinking and the push to resolve the project and multiple levels. he questioned many things about our projects making sure we know what we are doing
10	I liked that we had a lot of group discussions in the beginning, which led us to have a wider perspective on things.

What would be your suggestions to improve the instructor's teaching?

2	Be more patient
3	Na
5	none
6	Could be a little more consistent in the timings, when he comes in and how long he stays for a session.
7	Nothing

9	he needs to be more punctual
10	The last month of the studio was a little too agonizing due to the completely low number of discussion opportunities that we got. While we understand his responsibilities, our moving forward was highly dependent on his feedback, which towards the end, became too sparse.

2	Interactions and sessions were extremely helpful and structured in gaining understanding of the topics, and one on one discussions were crucial and always very focused on solving the problems at hand, while also focusing on conceptual clarity and innovation. Would be great if sessions were held at more regular intervals, especially during the end, but all discussions held were undoubtedly helpful.
3	a big thankyou to sir for a great semester
