- List of Publication if any.

- Milma Hq at Kozhikode: I was approached by the principal architect of "space a.r.t" to lead a team in conceptualizing a design for the extension of the current Milma HQ in Kozhikode. It was an exciting challenge, especially considering the current headquarters was designed by the renowned architect Ar. Laurie Baker. The timeline was tight - we had just one week to deliver quality output. Nevertheless, I was confident in my team's ability to rise to the challenge. We worked diligently to create a design that both complemented the existing building and added a fresh perspective to the overall design.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

■ What is your motivation to join this program?

Having lived in both the urban centres of Ernakulam and the emerging city of Kozhikode, I have had the opportunity to observe and contrast the functions and difficulties inherent in these localities. One of the most significant challenges faced by both regions is the inadequate transportation infrastructure and the lack of adequate waste treatment facilities, which have a detrimental impact on the quality of life for residents within and beyond the city limits. I am confident that the current course structure will enhance my practical and technical skills, empowering me to effectively address complex urban issues.

My goal for enrolling in this programme is to acquire the skills and knowledge necessary to contribute to a team dedicated to shaping the future of a particular city or state. I aspire to gain experience in policy-making through collaboration with professionals from various fields to achieve a common objective. Specifically, I will focus on policies that address water hygiene and water redistribution, which can ultimately improve the living standards of the population.

During my undergraduate studies, I learned about the esteemed reputation of CEPT University in the field of planning and design across the country. Our faculty members, who were alumni of CEPT University, frequently recommended the materials published by the institution. What sets CEPT University apart from other universities in India is its course offerings based on current work practises and highly experienced faculty, which, coupled with good facilities, made me prefer CEPT University for further studies.
