1	A very informative course
2	Overall I enjoyed the course. However, I felt it would have been a more challenging and fulfilling one if the batch consisted of design students predominantly. This would have helped with the the research and design process, and representation outputs in terms of the deliverables a little better.
3	This course was incredibly informative and well-structured, providing a comprehensive understanding of integrating diverse ecosystems. The practical insights and case studies were immensely valuable, enhancing my knowledge and inspiring practical applications in sustainable land management.
4	Course is good ad full of thrill and get new knowledge about agroforestry.
5	The course was satisfactory, but I believe is shouldn't be a 6-credit course. 8 days would be sufficient; assigning 3 days to topics could be covered in one. This course could be condensed to a 4 credit.

1	Her teaching made difficult concepts of agroforestry very easy.
2	She was remarkable, fostering an engaging and insightful learning environment. Her dedication to delivering complex concepts with clarity and offering practical examples enriched the course, making it an invaluable learning experience.
3	No
4	The faculty is excellent and I enjoyed learning from her. However, there is room for improvement in the communication between other faculty. The teaching methods employed were truly effective.
